

My family and I enjoy the national programming of K-LOVE on 96.9 in Troy, Oh. For years I had hoped that a station like theirs would become available in our area, and about a year ago it finally happened. It's my concern that if LPFM service is expanded, that those stations could take higher priority over the current FM translator service, and we would loose K-LOVE in our area. I believe that the service provided by K-LOVE is most definitely in the public interest in Troy, and in the Dayton, Cincinnati, and Wilmington, OH areas as well. I would hate to see K-LOVE forced off the air. That would leave us where we were before; without the great programming they afford.
